Reliquary Publishing Shipping Policy

Many of our items are distributed by a third party and are drop-shipped directly to the customer and are available for international shipping. Items that are shipped directly from our publishing house are currently only available in the United States. These items will be noted as such in the store.

Shipping costs through the third party distributor are available in the store. Shipping from our publishing house in Alaska is via book rate/media mail with current rates available through usps.com.
